Race and Criminal Justice in the West Gonzaga University School of Law

Friday, September 23 and Saturday, September 24, 2011

This conference seeks to examine the topic of race and the criminal justice system in the Western States. Racial minorities continue to be overrepresented in our criminal justice system; yet too often concerns about the high arrest and incarceration rates are dismissed as simply the result of high rate criminality.

This conference will explore the role of bias, both conscious and unconscious, to ask whether race still matters in our criminal justice system.
